We refer our readers to the advertisement in another column, of L. P. Hunt & Co. The scheme is a brilliant one, and the promises displayed by them in the payment of prizes in their two former drawings, warrant the confidence of those who may patronize the present one, to come off on Christmas eve night, at Mozart Hall in this city.

THEATRE.—The great play of the Corsican Brothers was performed last night to a large and appreciative audience. Mr. Neale sustained the two characters in a manner which elicited the most unbounded and rapturous applause. As much as we have heretofore said of Mr. Neale's acting in the different characters we have seen him in, we would do him injustice to attempt to give his merits their true reward in his personation of the Corsican Brothers—we feel inadequate to the task. The play on this occasion was produced with a new act written by Neale. It will be performed again to-night, and we advise all to go who would wish to enjoy the richest treat of the season. The farce of the "Sergeant's Wedding."

Editors of the Times:
GENTLEMEN.—The Hancock Street Methodist Church, under the pastoral care of the Reverend James A. Henderson, is now enjoying a glorious revival of religion, and up to this time (Monday morning) there has been 22 conversions, besides a deep interest manifested upon the subject of religion by many others. The Hancock Street Church has been blessed in procuring the services of one so pious and useful as Elder Henderson. At Hendersonville, Tenn., Henderson, and wherever he has been stationed, his labors have been blessed, and hundreds have been added to the Church under his ministry. May his usefulness never decrease but increase, and still be the instrument of turning many from their ways, unto the living God. The meeting still continues; preaching every night.

Yours, &c.,

The whole army now numbers 2,000 men, and they were in good spirits and eager for an engagement with the enemy. It was thought a decisive battle would be fought at Masaya about the 10th of November.
